Teaching Term Position in Data Science

Memorial University, Department of Mathematics and Statistics

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics of Memorial University invites applications for a three-year, non-tenure track teaching term appointment in data science at the assistant professor level. We invite candidates with expertise in data science, statistics or cognate areas with a strong interest in data science to apply. This position is subject to budgetary approval.

All applicants must have an earned doctorate in data science, statistics, or a related discipline by the time of appointment. The successful candidate is expected to show potential for teaching excellence in undergraduate and graduate curricula. Work experience or academic formation with courses in data science, statistics, biostatistics, or data analytics is required. The Department of Mathematics and Statistics recognizes and values diversity and equity, and will give special consideration to applications from women and other under-represented groups.

For information about the department, check the website <https://www.mun.ca/math/employment-opportunities/>.

The closing date for applications is February 15, 2024.

Candidates should submit a cover letter stating motivation and interest in the position, a curriculum vitae, a teaching dossier, an equity, diversity and inclusivity (EDI) statement, and at least three referees' names and addresses (including e-mail).

Applications should be submitted through:
https://careers.mun.ca/science/apply/advertisements/4821
(You may be asked to create an account if you don't have one. If so, click "Create Account," then click "Create Guest Account.")

You must use the codeVPA-02123-2023-211on all correspondence.

Memorial University is the largest university in Atlantic Canada. As the province's only university, Memorial plays an integral role in Newfoundland and Labrador's educational and cultural life. Offering diverse undergraduate and graduate programs to almost 19,000 students, Memorial provides a distinctive and stimulating environment for learning in St. John's, a very safe, friendly city with great historic charm, a vibrant cultural life, and easy access to a wide range of outdoor activities.

Memorial University is committed to employment equity, diversity, inclusion and anti-racism, and encourages applications from all qualified candidates, including: women; people of any sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression; Indigenous Peoples; visible minorities, and racialized people; and people with disabilities. All applicants are invited to identify themselves as a member of an equity-deserving group(s) as appropriate. Applicants cannot be considered as a member of an equity-deserving group(s) unless they complete an employment equity survey. Memorial is committed to providing an inclusive learning and work environment. If there is anything we can do to ensure your full participation during the application process, please contact equity@mun.ca directly and we will work with you to make appropriate arrangements.